

Danielle Bruno

I've been a long term resident of Grand Island, and a graduate of the District. Following High School, I obtained a Bachelor's Degree from the University of Buffalo and a Juris Doctor from Florida Coastal School of Law. During law school, I was an Editor on the Law Review and subsequently graduated with honors.

When I was admitted into New York, I began practice in landlord tenant matters with a focus on deterring homeless rates. While practicing landlord tenant law, a notable case of mine created policy change for people that were unlawfully evicted. This helped improve the living conditions of tenants in the Niagara County community. I then shifted practice into the personal injury field with a dedication in helping people that are wrongfully injured.

For the past three years, I've volunteered as the Attorney Mock Trial Coach at Grand Island High School. It has been an honor helping the students grow in their knowledge of the adversarial court process along with seeing their aspirations in being future attorneys.

Grand Island is a very special place to me. I purchased a home here not too long ago, and I have a strong desire to be involved in pivotal decisions while supporting the needs of the community, taxpayers, District, faculty/staff, and especially, the students.

Best regards,

Danielle Bruno
